FIND KNIFE, BLANKET IN KIDNAP DEATH

Suzanne's Parents Consoled by Nuns

While police seized a second suspect in the kidnap-slaying of their 6-year-old daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Degnan visited the chapel of the Sacred Heart Academy in Chicago, where they are shown talking with nuns on leaving. Slain Suzanne was a first-grade pupil there.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP)—A red-stained yellow blanket and a knife were found today in an alley behind an apartment building at 5903 Winthrop ave., where the police previously said the body of Suzanne Degnan, 6, was dismembered by a maniacal kidnap-killer.

The new clue material was taken to police headquarters. Its possible significance lay in the fact coroner's physicians insisted the gruesome carving was done with a sharp instrument, although Detective Sgt. Jack Hanrahan held to the belief a hacksaw found in the Winthrop ave. building was the weapon. (Other story on Page 3.)

1st Telephone Workers Out

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—A strike of installation workers that may shut down the nation's telephone system by Friday spread throughout the country today. By mid-afternoon most of the 8000 members of the Ass'n of Communication Workers (Ind.) in 42 states were off their jobs in a walkout that began this morning over a wage dispute.

The latest workers to join the strike were those in New York City, in Minnesota, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Montana, Wyoming, El Paso, Tex., Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Arkansas, Utah, Idaho and Memphis, Tenn. The workers install Western Electric Co. equipment for the Bell Telephone System.

Union leaders said picketing would begin Friday and that once pickets were thrown around the exchange other telephone workers would not cross the lines. Such action would virtually shut down the American telephone system.

Dial telephone service will not be affected until breaks occur. There will be no one to repair the breaks and union spokesmen estimate that dial service will bog down in a week or 10 days.

In New York, William D. Barry, president of Local 69 of the ACREW, said 38 telephone buildings would be picketed. The largest houses facilities for all transatlantic, ship to shore and long distance telephone traffic, Barry said.

Barry, seeking the support of other unions in New York, said a general strike might hit the city.

The Installation Workers' Union originally sought an average weekly pay boost of $6—about 14 per cent—but said its latest proposal was a "modification" of that.

In New Haven the executive board of the Connecticut Union of Telephone Workers, Inc., with a claimed membership of 5000 employes of the Southern New England Telephone Co., announced that it had adopted a

Eisenhower Orders All Surplus GIs Sent Home

By FRANCES MUSIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (INS)—Gen. Eisenhower has sent out instructions to all theater commanders to ship to the United States for discharge all men who are not needed, regardless of their length of service or number of points. This was revealed today as an Army spokesman disclosed that Pacific occupation troops will be cut from 840,000 to 375,000 by May instead of July. It was also learned that:

1—All Pacific men qualified for discharge—180,000—will be home by the end of this month.

2—The Army plans to have all men with two and one-half years' service home by April, and those with two years' service returned by the end of June.

The Eisenhower order was prompted by complaints from some troops overseas that they were being held there without anything to do.

Eisenhower reported to President Truman there was no need for disciplinary action against troops that demonstrated in Manila in protest against a slowdown in demobilization. Eisenhower said there had been "no acts of violence or disorder."

Mr. Truman made public a memorandum from Eisenhower approving the decision of Lt. Gen. William B. Styer, commanding general in the Philippines, who attributed the discontent to "acute homesickness aggravated by the termination of hostilities."

WACs Join 4000 GIs In European Protest

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 9 (AP)—More than 4000 soldiers and WACs, protesting the slowdown in redeployment, demonstrated in the headquarters compound of U. S. forces in the European theater in bitter cold tonight.

"Why are men overseas being made the goats while all rulings favor men at home?" one soldier yelled from a lamppost platform at the milling, cheering crowd.

Approximately 10,000 troops are attached to headquarters in the Frankfurt area.

GIs Told Protests Aid Jap Saboteurs

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 9 (AP)—American occupation forces were warned today "subversive forces will take their cue for sabotage plans from our future actions" after a provost marshal reported he had broken up a "hothead demonstration" of soldiers protesting a demobilization slowdown.

Lt. Gen. Charles P. Hall, acting commander of the Eighth Army, sent this message to his troops throught the Army newspaper Star and Stripes:

"The Japanese people watch with interest the first indication of a general breakdown of morale and discipline beginning to show up in occupation troops.

"Subversive forces, quick to sense dissension in the ranks, will take their cue for sabotage plans from our future actions."

Col. Charles A. Mahoney, provost marshal of the U. S. Army Service Command who said he had scattered protesting soldiers on the arrival of War Sec'y Patterson, was quoted by a mimeographed paper as saying:

"If you want to go home I'll take you home. I'll see that you get to my Yokohama prison. You're insulting a man( Patterson) who's a better GI than any of you. If you want lace panties I'll get them for you."

GIs in England Hold Mass Protest Meeting

HONINGTON, Eng., Jan. 9 (INS)—American troops in Honington, one of the two American Army bases remaining in England, today staged a mass meeting of protest against food and living conditions. They principally expressed disgust over priority granted "dogs and GI brides" in passage home.

Hingham Girl Heads Group To Aid GI Overseas Babies

A pretty, dark-eyed Hingham girl, Miss Mary Rizzotto, 33-year-old former Red Cross worker, today announced formation of the World Children's Foundation to care for and rear illegitimate children of American solders in Europe.

There are thousands of unfortunate youngsters in the countries of Europe, many of whose GI dads died in battle and whose unwed mothers cannot care for them, she declared in a press conference in New York.

Miss Rizzotto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rizzotto of Leavitt st., Hingham, one of seven children, was graduated from Hingham High school and attended Boston University and Harvard before going overseas—first with the Office of Strategic Services and then with the Red Cross.

She also was graduated from Hickox Secretarial School, Boston, and the Boston Public Library Training School. She held a secretarial position in New York before going abroad in government services, with headquarters in Rome.

The idea is all her own, one she pondered while in Italy and discussed with many high ranking Army officers.

"Children of American GI's are walking the streets of Europe like derelicts, cold, hungry and homeless," she said. "There are thousands of them. There are from 3000 to 5000 in Algiers alone, another 3000 in Italy. No agency is equipped to cope with the problem of these many 'war babies.'

"I know I'm on the right track. We've got to help them. The American people must be made to realize the situation. The facts would amaze our people."

On returning to the United States, Miss Rizzotto had $700 saved up. She spent $250 for a Massachusetts charter for her foundation and decided to establish headquarters in New York.

"Army officialdom have given me official blessing," she said. "The organization is to be a non-profit, charitable foundation and we intend to see to it that this desperate plight of unwed mothers and their babies is met."

Miss Rizzotto said one GI offered her $500 months ago when he heard of her plan. She did not take it. She discussed her plan with Maj. Fred Roche of Boston, who now is discharged and has taken over vice-chairmanship

Frank Sinatra, idol of the bobby soxers, has offered his help.

Among other who have given the project their blessing is Maj. Gen. Lawrence J. Jaynes, chief of the inspector general's office at Caserta, Italy.

In a final plea to the press for help, Mrs. Rizzotto concluded, "Americans cannot just shut their eyes. We must face the facts and assume a responsibility that is America's."

Fails Bar Exams, Appeals to Court

Harry Klein, a 59-year-old farmer, of West Stockbridge, appeared before Supreme Court Justice John V. Spalding here today with a petition for admission to practice before the Massachusetts Bar. Klein, a graduate in law of a correspondence school, says he has taken the bar examination 12 times between 1922 and 1945, and each time was rejected.

Klein charged that, because of prejudice, "the cards are stacked against me." He said William H. Hitchcock, secretary of the bar association, had told him he never would pass. Hitchcock acknowledged that he had done so, but felt that it was the kind thing to do.

Pappy Boyington's Jilt Real; He Weds Another

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 9 (AP)—Lt. Col. Gregory (Pappy) Boyington and Miss Frances Baker of Los Angeles were married here yesterday by a justice of the peace.

LUCY MALCOLMSON

Boyington, Marine Corps ace whom Mrs. Lucy Malcolmson, wife of an Australian General Motors executive, was waiting in Reno to marry as soon as she obtained a divorce, gave his age as 35. His bride said she is 32.

Boyington stated he was divorced in 1941 in Seattle, and Miss Baker said she was divorced in San Francisco in 1932.

The couple arrived here yesterday unattended and were married by Justice of Peace M. E. Ward. Employes of his office acted as witnesses.

Boyington announced in San Diego two days ago that he did not intend to marry Mrs. Malcolmson, who said she was "stunned" by his statement. Mrs. Malcolmson, 34, said she met the former Flying Tiger and Congressional Honor Medal holder in Australia.

Final Macfadden Decree Ends 'Perfect Union'

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 9 (AP)—Bernarr Macfadden, 77-year-old physical culturist, was granted a final divorce decree today from the British beauty contest winner whom he accused of "humiliating" him by losing her trim figure during their 33 years of married life.

The decree from Judge Paul D. Barns was awarded after a three-year court fight.

A separation at Paris in 1930 marked the beginning of the end for the romance called "a perfect union" when the couple married in London.

Much of their domestic difficulties centered around their seven childen. Mrs. Macfadden accused her htusband of endangering their health by ordering one child dipped in a cold water daily and all of them to dance in the open on wintry days, clad in filmy garments.

Claiming her business astuteness benefitted Macfadden, she displayed a photograph of her husband standing on his head, and testified: "He would still be standing on his head except for me. I put him on his feet."

"Nothing I Can Do," Says Other Woman in Reno

RENO, Jan. 9 (INS) — The marriage in Las Vegas yesterday of Lt. Col. Gregory "Pappy" Boyington to Frances Baker of Los Angeles today stunned Mrs. Lucy Malcolmson.

Mrs. Malcolmson came to Reno

to divorce Stewart Malcolmson, General Motors production manager in Australia, and announced she would wed Boyington. The Marine hero denied at San Diego that he would marry her.

Informed of Boyington's marriage, Mrs. Malcolmson said:

"I'm completely amazed. It's not like him to anything like that. However, if that is the way he wanted it, there is nothing I can do about it.

Mrs. Malcolmson declared yesterday that she intended to get a job in Reno.

At the same time her attorney, Joseph Haller, made public a series of telegrams containing endearing terms which he said Boyington sent to Mrs. Malcolmson.

Messages from Los Angeles to Jamestown, N. Y., said: "I love you. Hurry up and get out here. Miss you terribly"; also "Nice work, darling. Counting days.' These, like all the messages, were signed "Pappy."

As she proceeded West the following telegrams reached her: "Can hardly wait." "Practically nuts now as you and time are closer."

Parts of Baby's Body In St. Louis Sewer

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Part of a baby's chest was found today in a sewer where a severed leg was disclosed yesterday. No child has been reported missing.

questioning in the incredibly fiendish kidnap-slaying of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan, whose body was dismembered and cast into sewers near her home in the Edgewater Beach section.

Also held were four men and a youth of 18, but it was reported they had met lie detector tests satisfactorily and would be released.

The janitors being quizzed are Hector Verburgh, 65-year-old native of Belgium, who tends three apartment buildings within a block of the Degnan home, and Desere Smet, 35, who is in charge of three other buildings in the neighborhood.

No charge had been filed against them.

In one of the buildings tended by Verburgh police found what they called the "murder room," quarters used for hand laundry work. Bits of flesh, viscera and bloodstains were discovered in a tub. This was the place, they believed, where Suzanne was dismembered and where the murderer tried to dispose of parts of her body he did not throw into sewers.

Confronted with these facts, Verburgh's answer to the police was, "Maybe someone broke into the basement."

The laundry room also yielded to police several rags which appeared to have been blood-soaked, and a 14-inch hacksaw which co[illegible]ably could have been used by the killer during the dismemberment.

In a furnace of the same building were found several small bones. Inasmuch as all parts of the child's body except her arms have been recovered from the sewers, police suspected the bones may have come from her arms. Scientists at the University of Chicago were aiding in the case.

Taken into custody with Verburgh was his wife, Dorothy, mother of his six children. Their

OPA Raps Plan To Boost Butter

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Taking blunt issue with Agriculture Secy. Aanderson, OPA Adms. Chester Bowles said in a statement today:

"OPA is vigorously opposed to any price increase for butter. You can make that as strong as you like."

Bowles made his statement after Anderson had said at Chicago he had recommended an immediate 6-cent a pound increase in butter prices to stimulate production.

Removal of subsidies, Anderson said, would result in an additional 12 cents a pound increase, making the total boost 18 cents during the spring.

Trials for Telling Reds About A-Bomb

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—Several Army and Navy officers, most of them with the Office of Strategic Services, were reported today to be facing court-martial as the result of having passed "certain information" over to the Soviet embassy here.

Government investigative agencies, including the intelligence sections of the armed services, have been conducting an intensive checkup of leaks on confidential atomic bomb matters to Moscow. Existence of a secret courier system relaying atomic bomb information to Moscow was revealed in the Hearst newspapers Dec. 5.

The chief courier was pictured as employing the services of armed service personnel, officials of a left-wing maritime union and business men who work closely with Soviet espionage leaders.

The War Department had no immediate comment to make on the reported court martial proceedings.

However, a member of the House Military Affairs subcommittee conducting an investigation of the intelligence divisions of the Army and Navy said:

"There is no question that a leak on the atomic bomb has been going through to the Soviet Union.

"Communist and pro-Soviet forces in this country are reaching out to control military intelligence in the United States. What they are particularly aiming at is the secret of the atomic bomb."

He charged that the OSS, during the war, had been "loaded with Communist-minded officers" and pointed to the listing of such personnel in a recent report of the committee.

Gonsalves was taken into custody yesterday after Mrs. Dessert's 10-year-old son Norman found her body in the kitchen, the throat cut.

Calling police, he told Capt. Leo F. Greene a man he knew as "Uncle Jim, who isn't really my uncle" had been in the kitchen with his mother.

Driven out were Oscar Green, fourth floor occupant; Mrs. Minnie I. Bonnet, third floor, and Mrs. Alice Benson, operator of a street floor employment agency. At least 20 persons are listed as occupants, but the remainder were not at home.

Matchstick Girls

Beauty Expert Hits Silly Fashions

MEMPHIS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Harry Conover, head of a nationally known model agency, today accused fashion designers of "trying to give America a generation of flat-chested, emaciated, ill-tempered women who will be hard to live with."

He told Associated Press:

"Present fashions are pointed toward making women look like matchsticks, thus ruining their health and dispositions."

"I tell my models to eat as much as they like. Returning servicemen," he added, "want a good well-rounded bundle, not a matchstick."

Conover named former cover girl Anita Colby as the "most beautiful woman in America."

Miss Colby is the daughter of a former New York and Washington newspaperman, Bud Counihan. Her sister, Franchine Counihan, is one of the country's better known models.

"Anita is not only the most beautiful woman in America, she is one of the most intelligent," he said. "In her present job as advisor to David Selznick, Hollywood producer, she is exploiting her brains as well as her looks, which is unusual for a woman as beautiful as she."

Conover selected Ingrid Bergman as the "prettiest woman on the screen because of her inner glow," and called Maureen O'Hara the "perfect feature girl."

Based on his experience of interviewing 75 girls a day from all over the country for jobs as models, Conover said he considers Cleveland, Dallas and Atlanta as the "feminine beauty capitals of the nation."

Conover is in Memphis as the head of a panel of judges which chose Miss Gwin Darnwell of New York city as "1946 Maid of Cotton."

Jivesters in Court Declare Marijuana Aids Hot Music

Marijuana, the narcotic which dispels inhibitions and overcomes timidity, is widely used by "hot" musicians, a spokesman for five of them told Judge L. Carr in Municipal Court today.

The five were arrested in an apartment in Somerset st., almost within the shadow of the courthouse, which they had rented primarily for early morning "jive" sessions. All entered guilty pleas, three to possession of marijuana, and two to being present where it was used.

Judge Carr observed that a lot of the music he heard over the radio sounded as though it was inspired by some strange stimulant.

The men, arrested in a raid staged by police and federal agents, had appeared with various bands in Boston. The spokesman was Serge Chaloof, 22, of Riverway, Roxbury, who had 60 grains of the drug in an envelope when caught. He said he had bought it from a street vendor outside Symphony Hall on New Year's eve.

Benjamin Droodin, 26, of Ellington st., Dorchester, had two marijuana cigarets and Henry Rubenstein, 29, of Jacob st., Dorchester, had one of the cigarets and two small butts.

Stephen Chiesa, 30, of Lowell st., Somerville, and Louis R. Columbo, 31, of Brook st., Brockton, pleaded guilty to being present.

Judge Carr gave each a three months suspended sentence and placed them on probation.

Styles Stress Hips and Hoops With New Daring in Exposure

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Hips are in style again, and even hoop skirts are on the schedule for Miss USA next spring, according to the current showings of New York designers. Adele Simpson shows honest-to-goodness hoop skirts in her collection. Though not quite in the Civil War silhouette, they are an indication of a trend which thus far has gone in for square hips, padded hiplines and other manifestations of bulk.

They are most effective in a series of summer cottons with tight basque waists and full-gathered skirts, which may be worn with or without hoops.

It's an era of elegance and ultimate exposure, as women dress to the teeth to welcome home their warrior husbands, says Nettie Rosenstein, top-flight designer whose new collection goes in for deeply slashed, revealing necklines and bare-midriff evening gowns designed not for teen-agers but for women of mature figures and judgment.

The off-center neckline is one of the most seductive tricks in the Rosenstein collection, a deep slash that angles off to one side, revealing the swell of the bustline. This is used with telling effect in a dinner gown with one long tight sleeve, and one bare shoulder.

The cavalier silhouette is the big news of the Bruno collection. This is a suit with fitted waistline and tunic-length jacket, cut to accentuate the rounded hipline and small waist. It is shown in pink-check wools and alpaca.

Troy Stix, of Herbert Sondheim, also shows tunic suits with nipped-in waistlines and back-flared jackets. Some of her beach dresses have attached scarfs which may be worn over the head as a matching turban.

All the collections accentuate the bust and hips, with a pulled-in effect about the narrow waist, and styles are more feminine and elaborate than at any time since the war.

Curley Fires 2 More, Makes 5 Appointments

Mayor Curley tossed two more municipal officeholders into the discard today, made five more new appointments and had all city employes, down to the last window washer, right on their toes. Told to empty their desks and depart were Thomas F. McCready, registrar of births, deaths and marriages, and James E. King, chairman of the bureau of statistics.

Michael Manning of Monument st., Charlestown, was appointed to fill McReady's $5000-a-year post, while Lawrence Costello of Hancock st., Dorchester, a former Curley secretary, was given the $3500 bureau of statistics job.

The day produced on eresignation. Edward L. Doyle, loaned out as a member of the board of assessors, but under Civil Service, returned as chief clerk of assessments in the department.

The new mayor appointed James Sullivan of Hyde Park ave., Jamaica Plain, as the $5000 yearly superintendent of buildings; Peter Allen of Josephine st., Dorchester, to the $7000 job of principal assessor, and A. Joseph Freno of Sanborn ave., West Roxbury, to a $5000 job on the transit commission.

Sullivan, a state representative, announced he was resigning his state office.

"There are 26 others now on the city payroll who have two or more jobs," Curley threatened. "They better give up their other jobs or they won't be collecting city funds very long.

"Incidentally, I've told Mr. Sullivan to get busy in cleaning up City Hall annex and other public buildings. Soap and water are cheap and we're going to put everyone to work who can wash a wall."

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that Clarence E. Hyde, removed by Curley as a member of the transit commission, never had collected his salary while holding office. His pay had been turned over to charity.

Curley wound up his second busy day in office with the announcement he was going to Washington on completion of the day's business.

Earlier, he said he expected quite a few resignations and that if he didn't get them he would find a way to fill a number of posts with men better qualified than those now on the job.

The previous day he wiped out three municipal agencies, now costing $400,000 yearly, and placed seven new men in key city posts.

Besides Crosby's wife, former actress Dixie Lee, Mrs. Wyatt is survived by her husband, Evan Wyatt, and four grandsons, who are the singer's sons.

AWAITS PARENTS — This youngster, who claimed his name is Ernest R. Hoyt, 8, of Dover, N. H., is being held at the Chardon st. home while police endeavor to contact his family. The boy was found wandering in South Station at a late hour last night.

Distance May Bar Hyde Park to UNO

By ED ALLEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (INS)—The possibility that Hyde Park, N. Y., home of President Roosevelt may be ruled out as a site for the permanent United Nations Organization home rose today. As the seven-man UNO site inspection committee left New York for a motor tour to Hyde Park, Dr. Stoyan Gavrilovic, chairman, told newsmen the distance from New York was considered pretty far for practical purposes.

Dr. Gavrilovic said before the group left London there had been talk of ruling out Hyde Park, but the site was kept on the agenda at the insistence of several important delegations.

He said "80 miles is about the maximum distance we can go" from any metropolitan center.

The group, nonetheless, completed plans to visit the home of the late President, sponsored as the UNO site as a memorial to the man who made UNO possible.

The committee planned a two-hour airplane flight over the entire New York, New Jersey and Connecticut area, but bad weather grounded planes.

Instead, the group left for a motor tour through the Orange County-Newburgh N. Y., area at the invitation of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The party will go to West Point tonight, the committee will stay in Poughkeepsie, visiting Hyde Park tomorrow.

New York, Boston and Atlantic City, N. J., meanwhile, became the three most important choices for the interim home of the UNO.

2-Headed Boy With 2 Bodies Born in Virginia

NORTON, Va., Jan. 9 (AP)—A two-headed male infant was delivered through a Caesarian operation performed last night at Norton General Hospital on Mrs. Viola May Matthews Brickey, 25-year-old wife of a coal miner. The child was born dead.

The operation was performed by Dr. C. L. Karshbarger after Ernest Brickey, father of the child, brought his wife to the hospital.

According to physicians and Pres Atkins, editor of the Coalfield Progress, who saw the child, it had a dual body from the hips up, with two chests, two hearts and four arms.

The condition of Mrs. Brickey was serious. Mother of five healthy children, a small, somewhat plump woman, she had noted nothing unusual previous to the child's birth.

Noose for Fliers Ribbentrop Plan

NUERNBERG, Germany, Jan. 9 (AP)—Evidence was presented to the international military tribunal today to show that Joachim von Ribbentrop, former Nazi foreign minister, advocated lynching all captured Allied fliers who participated in the bombing of German cities.

British Prosecutor Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, closing his case against the one-time champagne salesman on trial for his life with other high-ranking Nazis, introduced documents showing that the German high command turned down Von Ribbentrop's proposal as too drastic.

Crime Wave Robber Gets 15 to 20 Years

Arthur T. Stegeman, alias Stedman, 28, of Bickford st., Jamaica Plain, pleaded guilty in Suffolk Superior Court today to robbery and larceny in connection with the recent crime wave.

On recommendation of Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle, he was sentenced to State Prison for 15 to 20 years on nine robbery counts and concurrent terms of 3 to 5 years for larceny.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 9 (AP)—Thirteen times, D. E. (Doc) Olsen, who lives at the rear of his jewelry store, has heard the crash of glass in the front of his shop and arrived in time to scare robbers away.

Now he has ordered a sign reading: "Don't Break the Window. Ring the Bell."

Vandenberg O.K's Atom Control Plan

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP)—A breach in the United States delegation over safeguards for atomic energy secrets was sealed today at a conference on the eve of the opening of the United Nations Organization assembly.

Sec. Byrnes conferred two hours with the American delegates and said that, so far as he knew, his view of the safeguards was entirely acceptable to all.

Sen. Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan, said he had been completely reassured upon two points which he had considered of paramount importance: that adequate security arrangements would precede disclosures concerning atomic matters and that "any plan recommended by the atomic commission must receive Congressional approval in the United States."

The Secretary said the United States, Britain, Russia and Canada were agreed on safeguards for atomic energy secrets under whatever control plan was devised by UNO.

(International News Service said today that the recall to Moscow of Deputy Foreign Commissar Andrei Vishinsky on eve of the UNO general assembly's opening created a sensation among delegates.)

The controversy over atomic energy revolved around a proposal by the Big Three powers and Canada, which also had French and Chinese support, that the United Nations create a commission to work out atomic energy controls.

Vandenberg had assailed the "vague language" of the proposal as endangering American atom secrets. Byrnes had contended the United States would never have to give out any information it did not want to.

HELD IN CURLEY CAR CASE

Lewis Darvaris, 20, Malden st., South End, alleged to have taken Mayor Curley's family car from its parking space in Province st., opposite City Hall, shortly after the mayor's inaugural, was held in $5000 in municipal court today for hearing Jan. 18.

Malden Man, 71, Missing 12 Days

A 71-year-old Malden man, believed to be carrying several thousand dollars, vanished while taking a walk Dec. 28, and Police Sgt. William Butler of Malden today appealed to Boston authorities for aid in finding him.

Butler said Charles W. Norton of Fellsway, retired railroad employe, sold a house shortly before he disappeared. He said the purchase price has not been deposited in Norton's bank.

The missing man has a wooden leg, wore gray pants, a black suit coat, brown hat, gray overcoat and rimless glasses.

Not only tops, but one who sets the pace for others to follow — is known wherever high fashion makes news for d a ring originality and inimitable ingenuity. Here in Boston on a visit recently from the West one of the most important things on her itinerary was a "look at Filene's Basement." Talking with a famous Bostonian she said—"You can be sure I will not leave Boston without seeing this famous store—Filene's Basement is the place to shop—I understand it is a beehive." So down she came to see for herself what she heard was a "beehive"—a beehive of activity where crowds swarm daily for good saleable, underpriced merchandise bought off price for a sound business reason. She purchased a $39.90 famous retail store suit at $21.90 for her daughter and three hats, one with a matching handbag at $23.85, they were such irresistible values. Filene's Basement frequently offers seconds and samples of this noted designer's exclusive fashions below normal price and though it isn't as often as we would like to have them—they are usually "gobbled" off the counters by these fashion sleuths who know their fine feathers and know this unique store frequently produces them at trivial cost. When folks visit us from far away—isn't it pretty good proof that if you live here and don't visit this unique Basement store —YOU should?

resolution not to observe picket lines expected to be established there, and at Waterbury and Hartford, in the strike of members of the National Ass'n of Telephone Equipment Workers.

N. E. Calls Go Through Despite Walkouts

Telephone calls throughout New England went through on schedule today although a score of members of the Ass'n of Communications Equipment Workers (Ind.) walked off the job in Norwood and Plainville and in Providence, R. I.

Other New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. unions took no action in joining with striking Western Electric Co. employes.

A telephone company spokesman said:

"Long lines workers here are affiliated with the Federation of Telephone Workers and whether they will picket or whether they will strike we do not know. Their leaders have announced a strike vote will be taken in a few days.

"As to the rest of the employes, other New England people are not affected and there is no controversy here. Calls are going through on schedule and we think our people will stick to their jobs. The chief difficulty will be some delay in getting calls through from outside New England."

Grace Barry, president of the Telephone Operators Union, Local B 1120, AFL, comprising 80 per cent of the telephone operators of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., said a meeting of the organization has been called for tomorrow night.

At that time, they will vote on whether or not to ignore picket lines if they are set up here.

"There is no involvement here," she said. "The strike is between the equipment workers union and Western Electric. The bulk of telephone operators here probably will go on working if picket lines are established although the matter will have to be threshed out tomorrow night."

Meanwhile, Western Electric Co. plants in Haverhill and Watertown were operating on schedule, it was announced. In Haverhill, workers already have voted 7 to 1 not to join the sympathy strike. No action at all has been taken in Watertown.

600,000 to Back WU Strike, CIO's Threat

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—CIO officials threatened today to throw the full weight of 600,000 Metropolitan New York members behind the 7000 striking Western Union employes whose walkout has severed the telegraphic nerve center of the world's business capital and heart of Western Union's complex communication system.

Possibility of concerted CIO action in support of the striking members of the CIO American Communications Ass'n was expressed by Saul Mills, secretary of the greater New York CIO council, who declared 600,000 members of 300 organization locals had been alerted "for every possible support deemed necessary" to back the strikers.

The work stoppage, in protest of a War Labor Board decision which revised downward a wage award by a regional board, slowed down international cable communications. A Western Union official said that not more than 15 per cent of the normal daily traffic was transmitted at the company's main office yesterday.

Non-union members worked in 25 branch offices in the city and incoming telegrams were relayed by telephone to addresses. A system of priorities for accepting telegrams, based on a wartime list, was established.

NEW ZEALAND BRIDES

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Jan. 9 (AP)—Of 1022 New Zealand brides of American servicemen, 350 have left with their 128 children for new homes in the United States.

Lynn Prepares For G. E. Strike

Two soup kitchens to feed 16,000 persons will be set up in Lynn should the threatened strike of General Electric workers be called next Tuesday, Frederick M. Kelly, business agent of Local 201, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, CIO, announced today.

Kelly said the union would hire Lynn Armory in South Common st., and Lynn Sports Arena in Western ave., to dispense food to the strikers.

He announced a mass meeting will be held Sunday at 3 p. m. in Odd Fellows Hall, Market st., to consider any 11th-hour proposals to avert the walkout called in support of a $2-a-day wage increase demand.

Paid workers of the local will not draw compensation from the union for the duration of the strike, Kelly said. He said the officials and clerical help decided against accepting pay "because we are willing to make the same sacrifices as the workers."

Children Enlisted In Cleanup Drive

The public affairs committee of the Women's City Club today inaugurated a campaign to enlist the aid of Boston children in a city-wide cleanup program. Under the program, children would be taught the importance of health through cleanliness.

Mrs. Mary T. Leonard, committee chairman, said she hoped to confer soon on the project with Mayor Curley.

Degnan

counsel today applied for their release on a writ of habeas corpus. The court was expected to hear the petition momentarily.

A coroner's inquest, scheduled for today, was postponed on request of police, who said they wanted more time for investigation.

James Degnan, the father, broke down after telling of the last time he had seen his child and was excused from further testimony. He said:

"I last saw Suzanne alive at midnight Sunday, when I took her from her little bed and led her to the bathroom. Then I gathered my girl into my arms and carried her back. I tucked her in bed . . ."

He was unable to go on, for the next time he had gone to the bedroom he had found it empty, a ransom note on the floor and a ladder under Suzanne's window.

His brother, Thomas J. Degnan of Main st., Leicester, Mass., who flew to Chicago yesterday to help the family, completed the routine identification testimony.

Verburgh underwent a lie detector test this morning and was to be given others this afternoon, although Director Charles M. Wilson of the police crime detection laboratory said results of the first test were "inconclusive."

Smet and Verburgh have insistently maintained they had no knowledge of the kidnap-slaying. Neither is known to have any record of crime or trouble with police. Verburgh was given high praise by a number of neighbors.

Meanwhile, in another apartment house basement near the Degnan home investigators discovered a length of wire, looped, under a rear stairway. Strands of blonde hair clung to it. The girl's hair was blonde.

Detectives are inclined to think the wire was used to strangle her, for coroner's physicians disclosed she had died of asphyxiation and had been dismembered after death.

They also reported there was evidence she had been severely mistreated but had not been criminally attacked.

The handwriting of the two janitors is being examined by experts for comparison with that in the crudely written $20,000 ransom note which the kidnaper tossed on the floor of Suzanne's bedroom for her father, James Degnan, OPA official.

Tenants of his building expressed amazement that he was taken into custody. They described him as "a gentle old man who wouldn't harm a fly."

Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, was not of the belief the girl's body had been dismembered by the hacksaw found in the apartment house basement. He believes a sharper instrument had been used.

A woman tenant of the same building told police she had been awakened early Monday by the sound of water running in the wash tub where bloodstains were later found. She did not investigate. The building is directly across an alley from a Kenmore ave. area where the girl's head was found in a sewer catch-basin Monday night.

A search of the neighborhood has also produced a blood-stained pushcart which police think may have been used to transport parts of the body to the sewers.

Police Chief Storms was directing a search today for an unidentified man and woman who were seen in the vicinity of the Degnan home at approximately 2 a. m. Monday, an hour before the kidnaping.

A witness reported the woman was "carrying a bundle in both arms" and she and her male companion entered an automobile parked a short distance from the Degnan home.

Chief Storms, in a radio appeal directed to the couple, urged them to contact police if they "have no connection with the case." He thought they might have observed others in the neighborhood and could give helpful information.

From Thomas Goldstick, a milk wagon driver, came information that for two consecutive days before the kidnaping he saw an automobile parked in the Degnan neighborhood. On it, he said, was a 7-foot ladder exactly like the one the kidnaper used and abandoned under the window of Suzanne's bedroom.

Rewards totaling $11,000 now have been offered for information leading to apprehension of the kidnap-slayer. Mayor Kelly personally offered $5000 of it after the severed head was found.

Chicago has rarely been so incensed over a crime. Thousands of parents are apprehensive that the murderer may strike again.

The maniacal act was the work of a man who was expert with a knife, according to Coroner Brodie, who said:

"I think it was an on-the-spot dismemberment, carried out on the spur of the moment, rather than by premeditated plan."

Funeral services for Suzanne will be conducted Friday morning in St. Gertrude's Church, with her 10-year-old sister, Elizabeth, as one of the mourners. Present also will be many of her classmates at Sacred Heart Academy, where she was a first grade pupil.

Suzanne Fund

BALTIMORE, Jan. 9 (AP)—The Maryland OPA system, which James E. Degnan helped to establish, today set up a "remembrance fund" for him and arranged for 25 masses for his six-year-old daughter, Suzanne, who was kidnaped and killed in Chicago.

Leo H. McCormick, state OPA director, with whom Degnan formerly worked in Baltimore, said all employes had been invited to join in a "gesture of sympathy" toward Degnan by contributing to a "remembrance fund for Jim for use as he sees fit."

The OPA office here also arranged for 25 masses to be said for Suzanne at St. Mary's Catholic church in suburban Govans, which the Degnan family attended while residing in Baltimore.

Post deb Louise Penhallow sported a black crepe shortie with a purple tipped orchid and jet sequin peplum as she and her date joined the honeymooning Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bramley (Joan Wyatt) of Chestnut Hill and New York. The bride accented her black outfit with pearl choker and earrings.

The always glamorous Mrs. George Aldrich (Alice Burrage) wore a modish black dinner suit accented with pearls and a diamond clip and a becoming turban with ropes of pearls entwined in the crown. She and Mr. Aldrich were entertaining at dinner for Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Record (Emily Davis), the latter accenting her dark good looks with an air force blue sheer wool suit and matching felt picture hat.

Ice blue satin flowers were appliqued on the square neckline of the black informal worn by post deb Helen Mitchell for her date with Ensign Alfred Preston Lee, USNR, of Winchester. And one of the snappiest hats was the green tulle model adorned with roses that Mrs. George Parson wore with a sleek navy blue dress for dancing with her husband.

The relative merits of newspapers and radios as national advertising media were discussed today at the first of two luncheon meetings in the Copley Plaza Hotel sponsored by the newspaper publishers of Boston.

The publishers will be hosts to national advertisers at the second luncheon to be held tomorrow. The meetings are under general auspices of the American Ass'n of Newspaper Representatives.

300 Protest Allston Smoke, Call It Deadly

Smoke and cinders from the Boston & Albany's two huge roundhouses at Beakon pk., Allston, are threatening the health of women and children, forcing patients with respiratory trouble to move, and raising havoc with curtains and pillow cases, it was charged at a State House hearing today.

More than 300 householders, indignant and articulate, appeared before the public utilities commission to protest.

Mrs. Dorothy Chaplin, graduate nurse of Peterf Bent Brigham Hospital, asserted she had attended several post-mortems on residents of the area in which cinders found in the lungs had been a contributing factor to deaths. She added: "Any baby put out for an airing is completely covered by cinders."

Rep. Sullivan said he had instigated the petition of complaint after his father was hit by an automobile in a midafternoon gloom. "when a careful driver couldn't see three feet in front of him."

City Councilor Edward C. Madden told the commission: "I've seen smoke screens in Bizerte, Naples and Algiers, but nothing like this. It was so difficult for me to paint buildings in Allston without their being completely grimy before the paint was dry that I had to use quick-drying paint and work at top speed."

Mrs. Joseph A. Belleche and Mrs. Christine Hutchins displayed soiled pillow cases and curtains they said had been rendered filthy after a brief airing.

The hearing was to be continued.

Fittering Line—This two-piece, bright red wool worn by CBS actress Anne-Marie Gayer inclu puff sleeves, whittled waist through fitted jacket with slenderizin ont and back tapering points and front skirt fullness held secure by ing that also forms pockets.

Double Joy—The happiness of Arlene Johnson, 7, of Somerville, is complete with the return of her father, Sgt. Leo Johnson, from overseas. The little girl had trained her dog to do tricks for him, but the dog died. A Cambridge woman learned of the death and presented her with a new pet, which she displays. Her mother joins the get-together.

World's Largest

The new Martin XPBM-5A, described as nearly twice as big as any other amphibian, is shown taking off on its first test flight. The ship weighs 30 tons and is designed along the lines of the Martin Mariner, one of the best rough-water patrol boats of the war.

Regatta Time—Heading down the stretch in a regatta at Miami are these speedy launches, riding the water under the guidance of a few people who are a lot luckier than we New Englanders who have to wait until summer for such sport. Hundreds of speed boat enthusiasts are heading South for the midwinter regattas along the Florida coast.

DEAL HARSHLY WITH FIENDS

THE BRUTAL kidnap-murder of 6-year-old, Boston-born Suzanne Degnan in Chicago shocks and angers the whole country.

No punishment is too harsh for the utterly depraved person guilty of such a crime.

Unfortunately, not even the most exacting justice can restore the little girl to her parents' empty arms.

The proper time to have caught the killer was before he planned and perpetrated the outrage.

A man arrested for a sex crime involving a child should be imprisoned for life.

Sad experience in our own and most other States has shown that another chance for him too often means no chance for some little boy or girl.

CRUEL PRACTICE

THE New England Anti-Vivisection Society has introduced an essential bill in the Massachusetts Legislature.

Entitled "An Act to Prohibit Experiments and Operations Upon Living Dogs and Cats," it says:

"Whoever experiments or operates in any manner whatsoever upon any living dog or cat for any purpose other than the healing or curing of said dog or cat shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment for not less than three months nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

This will curb the brutalities that have been practiced for too many years in this Commonwealth under the guise of vivisection.

Each year more than 25,000 dogs and cats are cut to pieces without anesthetic or mercy of any kind in laboratories, cellars and attics.

Frequently they are the pets and companions of little children, from whom they are stolen.

Outstanding medical men have said that vivisection contributes nothing to medicine or surgery and never saves a human life.

On the other hand, countries like England which prohibit vivisection, have made important discoveries and given the world such marvels as penicillin.

MORE NEEDED

SEVERAL Greater Boston Representatives and Senators have filed bills for the urgently needed garage under the Common.

This is a great step forward in the right direction, although a bill by every Greater Boston Representative and Senator would be better.

This is the best thing the Legislature can do for Boston and Massachusetts.

It will greatly reduce the traffic congestion which is choking the Capital city and costing the people more than $55,000,000 a year in lost business and employment.

As Lt.-Gov. Robert Bradford told the Boston Sunday Advertiser this week, "it would be foolish and futile for us not to profit by San Francisco's successful expement . . .

"Forty years ago, when trolley cars were obstructing our narrow streets, there was no serious objection to running them beneath the Common—even beneath the graves of Revolutionary War heroes and distinguished statesmen.

"Later on, when telephone wires and power cables became too numerous and heavy for poles, there wasn't much opposition to putting them beneath the Common, too.

"With all these things currently operating under the historic soil, I feel that it would be slightly hypocritical for me or anybody else at this late date to contend that taking parked cars off the blocked thoroughfares of downtown Boston and putting them under the Common would be a desecration."

HAVEN'T READ "Forever Amber." However, I was interested in an excerpt I noted from this book which dealt with what an astrologer told Amber St. Clare, the heroine. Said the stargazer to Amber: "You were born with Venus in separating square aspect to Mars in the fifth house. Hence you are inclined, Madame, to over ardent affections and to rash impulsive attractions to the opposite sex. I see that some day you will have, Madame, a hundred lovers." (Note: If you read "Forever Amber" can you tell me how many lovers the heroine had in all? Or haven't you an adding machine?)

PASSING BY: Paulette Goddard. A noticeably graceful walker who carries herself exceedingly well. She would have made a good drum majorette. Paulette is said to be the smartest business woman in Hollywood. I question that claim. Believe the smart business woman standing in the film colony is: 1, Mary Pickford; 2, Janet Gaynor; 3, Joan Crawford; 4, Paulette Goddard. There is probably not a man alive who ever got the better of any of those girls in a business deal.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Can you straighten out a colonel and major in the Philippines who are arguing as to whether it was Joe Wolcott or Sam Langford who was known as "The Giant Killer?" A—Wolcott was called the "Giant Killer" because he was always knocking out men much larger than himself. Langford was "The Boston Tar Baby" . . . Q—Is the elegant and impeccable Lucius Beebe a native of Boston or New York city? A—Mr. Beebe was born in Lynn. Q—My red-haired wife, who like all strawberry blondes is a little stubborn and positive in an argument, says Greta Garbo's first talking picture was "Anna Christie." I claim it was "Romance" or "Grand Hotel." A—Your wife wins the argument. Greta made her talking picture debut in "Anna Christie" with a part especially selected to match her Swedish accent. As you will recall the film was exploited with the slogan "Garbo talks!" That was 15 years ago.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—Slowly, since the shooting stopped and the pretext of security ceased to shield the selfishness and self-importance of the selfless protectors of the common man, we are hearing astounding facts of their conduct in contrast to the preaching of the New Deal.

Westbrook Pegler

We have been told that President Roosevelt used his influence to promote a loan of $200,000 for his son Elliott, and then engineered a coup by which the lender was induced to part with his collateral. The President, himself, was the receiver and transmitter of the certificates.

We have been told he induced the R. F. C. to buy up a baronial estate adjoining his own, operating through three holding corporations, ostensibly to acquire an experimental station for the Department of Agriculture but actually to assure that "undesirable" neighbors should not move in next door.

Only after "security" was no longer to be invoked, we learned that a household garrison of 300 soldiers was maintained at Hyde Park and provided with a distinctive uniform, to patrol and guard the President's private premises, and, when he happened to be "in residence," to protect his person.

NOW IT CAN be revealed also that during the time when that docile, gullible dolt, the common man, was drawing a gasoline ration of two and one-half gallons of low-grade fuel a week for the family car, when spies were noting the license numbers of cars parked at the movies, when even servicemen on leave were warned not to use their little supply on frivolous errands . . . That during those days, Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, had a Lockheed Lodestar and, before that, a Lockheed Twelve, the property of the Coast Guard and manned by Coast Guard officers and bluejackets, all at public expense, to fly him from Washington to his home at Beacon, near the Roosevelt estate, and fetch him back to his office.

Mr. Morgenthau is reticent regarding the actual number of such flights. He really doesn't know how many times he whipped up from Washington in 50 minutes to rest a little at his home while civilians below crowded into buses or slept or perched on suitcases in the aisles of day coaches, and ration boards refused extra allowances of fuel for sick civilians to visit their doctors. His only impression is that the number of trips was "not too many."

MR. MORGENTHAU'S first response was that he used a Coast Guard plane at times on official business, largely on War Bond trips, but he conceded that he did use the ship "occasionally" to fly to the airport at New Hackensack to visit his home.

"I really had no other way to get home," he said, and added that he thought a government officer was entitled to such visits, revealing again that feeling of preciousness which Harold Ickes betrayed when he explained that he put himself away in the Naval Hospital in Washington, at a purely nominal expense, and without the slightest legal right, because the civilian hospitals in Washington were overcrowded.

Mr. Morgenthau says these ships were not assigned exclusively to him, but that he could use them if they were not otherwise engaged. Other informants disagree, insisting that first the Lockheed Twelve and then the Lodestar were set aside for his exclusive use, with crews standing by at all times to fly him, and that the cost to the taxpayers was about $10,000 a month. The Lodestar used about 300 gallons on each round trip.

INASMUCH AS Mr. Morgenthau served about 11 years in the Cabinet, a permanent job as such matters are reckoned, it might have been appropriate to make Washington his home. He interposes that the Washington climate is not always comfortable, a point that may be granted only with the stipulation that it is equally unpleasant to those who cannot escape merely by causing a secretary to lift a phone and conjuring a magic carpet.

He flew home, how many times we do not know although the logs and the testimony of the crews might establish the exact truth, while thousands of other men, no less weary from work and strain and no less anxious about illness in their families, spent many wretched nights in frozen Pullmans, commuting on essential war business between plants and their headquarters with only occasional nights in their own beds.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 9—Heavens to Betsy! Is Sam Goldwyn trying to corral all the talent in America for "Glory for Me," the MacKinlay Kantor novel? He's got a cast that shines so brightly it hurts your eyes.

Now he's added Fredric March to the list of names that already includes Teresa Wright, Myrna Loy, Dana Andrews and Virginia Mayo.

Teresa Wright

Wonder if this means Freddie won't do "Life With Father?" I've heard it said Mrs. Clarence Day has her heart set on William Powell, and since Bill wants to make the picture, could be he'll get it after all. And listen to this! Don't be surprise if Mary Pickford accepts the Warner offer and plays the mother. She's had the okay of all concerned.

THE VERY PRETTY girl on the 20th Century-Fox lot is Pati Behrs, 21-year-old actress who has just arrived from France for a part in "Razor's Edge." Miss Behrs is the daughter of Prince Behrs of Georgia, the country the Midvanis hail from. She left Russia when a child, when the other White Russians left. Interesting the way she happened to come to Darryl Zanuck's attention. Frank Capra saw her and told Darryl about her beauty and ability after the GIs raved and raved. So a test was made and pronto she came to America and makes her debut in "Razor's Edge."

UNLESS PAULETTE GODDARD changes her mind at the last moment, she's due to arrive in town Thursday with Burgess Meredith. She's going to make another independent, "The Brave New World," Aldous Huxley's story. As has been announced. But it hasn't been announced that Huxley is going to work on the story. That Goddard girl seems to know where she's going and why. Buzz would like to get out of the acting end and become a director producer so that's what he will do in their independent movies.

VERY, VERY GOOD news to Jack Conway's many friends to hear he is well again and has signed a new contract with MGM. He's one of the most popular and best directors on that lot and has fought ill health for two or three years until now he is really in grand shape. He has no assignment but there's talk he may do the atomic bomb story, "The Beginning of the End." I am told Louis B. Mayer believes it is foolish for Hal Wallis and himself to battle over this, and so he has arranged a meeting whereby they can make some decision and since MGM has made such extensive preparations they may make a deal with Wallis.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Where was Victor Mature when June Haver stepped out with Bobby Breen? Bobby took her to the Troc and the Cocoanut Grove; Henry Ginsberg has been quite sick with an impacted wisdom tooth; Jack Dempsey is negotiating with Estelle Taylor, his ex, to buy the house he gave her when they parted, Kenny Wright, Warner executive, has had a tonsillectomy; Clarence Brown and his secretary, Marian Stees, at the same place. That's really a romance; Eddie Duchin admires Irene Selznick tremendously and will tell anybody who'll listen that she's his favorite woman. Well, he can't be blamed for that.

CHARLIE BRACKETT and Billy Wilder, winners in the annual poll of a large magazine, entertained Katherine Somers and Thornton Delehanty at a cocktail party. Mrs. Mona Tucker, daughter of Col. Edward House in Wilson's administration, was one of the attractive guests. Greer Garson, looking unusually well, with Richard Ney, and members of the cast of "The Lost Weekend," and many, many others came to the party. Everyone likes Charlie and Billy, and they are very happy over this honor for them. Mrs. Brackett was very cute. Hollywood cocktail guests always arrive so late, and she being so prompt, was ahead of them at her own party. She said she started to feel like Stella Dallas. She needn't have felt that way long for the crowds all came at once, and crowds I mean; Margaret Ettinger is a happy woman with her boy, Sgt. Gordon Maynard, back in this country. Gordon has had enough experiences to fill a book. Maybe he will some day; Joan Crawford gave Oscar Levant a birthday party. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—Mr. Larry Smith, the oil man, who is always viewing with alarm, even if he has to use binoculars, called up the other day in a great state. The man was positively beside himself—on the left, of course.

"You want to save lives, don't you?" he yammered. "You don't want to see strong men—maybe the fathers of little kiddies — rushing a watery grave?"

I assured Mr. Smith we could accept that as a working hypothesis, and asked what was agitating him.

"It's a new fountain pen they've put on the market," he yelped. "They claim it will write under water!"

I told him I did not see anything alarming in that.

"You don't, eh?" he screamed. "Then you are utterly devoid of imagination. I can see fearful potentalities.

"Listen," continued Mr. Smith. "This is a nation of skeptics. Do you suppose that anyone with a pen that will reputedly write under water will ever be really satisfied until he gets under water and tries it?"

"But why would anyone want to write under water?"

"That is not the issue," said Mr. Smith, "although I have wondered about it myself. Personally, I have done little corresponding under water. But the makers claim it will do so, and I am sure folks are going to put it to the test.

"IN FACT, I know three people who have these pens, and they are just itching to experiment. My only hope is that they can be dissuaded from jumping into the water with a handful of stationery until the ice melts.

"But, even if they hold off until spring, casualties are bound to result because there are sure to be pen-owners who cannot hold their breath under water long enough to give the thing a fair try out. They will come up gasping and somebody will throw them a life preserver, conking them on the head and rendering them unconscious.

"The situation is definitely menacing. Supposing a fellow jumps into the Potomac to test his pen and the pocket clip sticks so he can't get it loose from his vest? Or he discovers he is out of ink? Or to go one step further—supposing he orders his secretary to jump in after him to take dictation and the poor girl is not used to taking dictation under water? What of that?"

I said I did not know, as all the secretarial help I had ever had seemed to be working under ether, but Mr. Smith ignored the interruption.

"It is no laughing matter," he said. "Unless you want to see a lot of your fellow citizens in a state of total submersion you had better get busy and do something."

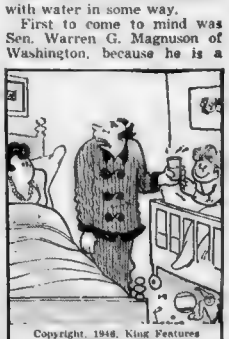
* * *

NOW, IN CASES like this, whenever a grave problem is put before me, I always do one thing—take it to Congress. After all, who should be better equipped to solve your problems than your Congressman?

This being a specialized matter, however, I decided it would not do to call up just any members of Congress. They would have to be connected with water in some way.

First to come to mind was Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, because he is a member of the Senate Committee on interoceanic canals.



Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"Time? It's three glasses of water past twelve!"

"That is very serious," said Mr. Magnuson, "and requires careful thought. But, in the meantime, we should take steps to protect our interoceanic canals. It will never do to have them cluttered with people trying out new fountain pens no matter how excellent the pens may be otherwise.

"Of course, I can see where such a pen might be handy if you were carrying on correspondence with a mermaid. But—and I wish to be delicate—that would come under the heading of naval affairs."

Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, a member of the subcommittee of the appropriations committee investigating inland waterways, said he was particularly concerned because he had just returned from an inspection of the Florida barge canal.

"We've got to keep our canal barges clear," he said. "We don't want the barges scraping over a lot of people with fountain pens."

Sen. Thomas added that he had been down in a glass-bottomed boat in Silver Springs, Fla., but that he had been under no temptation to write to anybody.

Rep. John R. Murdock, chairman of the House irrigation and reclamation committee, said he felt no immediate alarm.

"I do not think any pen owner, no matter how anxious to test his gadget, would choose an irrigation ditch if there was any other water handy," he said.

Mr. Murdock said there was only one really utilitarian use he could conceive for a pen that will write under water.

"If a fellow were drowning and wished to make his last will and testament," he said, "he might like someone to hand such a pen down to him."

I asked Rep. F. Edward Hebert, of the House naval affairs committee, if he had any idea what you could use for writing on under water.

"Certainly," he said. "What about the white under side of a passing flounder?"

Boston After Dark

BOSTON'S NEW "CITY CENSOR" is quite new to the news columns, too . . . Yet he has a wide circle of admiring friends who swear by Samuel Nesson as an honorable and able young man . . . As it happens, he is a friend of long-standing of this department, although his appointment was as distinct a surprise to this corner as it was to the political soothsayers and oracles who frequent the Parker House lobby and its adjacent public rooms.

* * *

MR. NESSON IS A member of the Brighton family which is so well and favorably known in the city's real estate marts . . . His wife is the former Miss Marjorie Rothwell, a daughter of the late Dr. Charles Rothwell of South Boston . . . The Nessons, who have two children, have won popularity as a very hospitable couple, both at their Commonwealth ave. home and in their summer place at Wessagussett.

THIS COLUMN has chronicled the couple's social activities on occasion . . . In November, we told that they were entertaining the brother of the King of Egypt (whose name escapes us), when that young prince was visiting Boston for the first time . . . And, somewhat to our professional dismay, although we were able to call in advance most of the important Curley appointments, we were totally unaware of the identity of the city official whose duties a column like this has the duty to discuss more frequently than any other . . . If we can predict this: Sam Nesson will do a businesslike and artistic job in his new post.

HE TAKES OVER a badly-disorganized department . . . Not that the outgoing Johnny Spencer was not an excellent public servant—he was indeed . . . But man- and woman-power emergencies have arisen time and time again recently in the licensing department of the Mayor's office . . . The job is arduous with detail and routine, incidentally . . . The censoring angle is minor.

SHOULD HE DECIDE that a play or entertainment is at odds with decency, the so-called "city censor" must make a report to a board of three comprising the Mayor, the Police Commissioner and a member of the art commission . . . (Before the Tobin regime, the third member of the board was the chief justice of the Boston Municipal Court instead of a member of the art commission.)

THE CENSOR is an official, nonetheless, whom New York producers have come to respect, and not since former City Censor John J. Casey was challenged in the case of "Strange Interlude" has a legitimate producer carried a protest over that dignitary's head . . . The origin of this "city censor" job is interesting . . . The late Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., is credited with bringing the added chore of reviewing legitimate plays to the city's licensing clerk.

ZIEGFELD WAS UNCERTAIN about a scene in one of the early Ziegfeld Follies . . . He appealed to Clerk Casey, then a newcomer in the position he held so long, and made famous, for help . . . Mr. Casey attended the show and advised Ziegfeld to tone down the skit . . . Ziegfeld was partly responsible also for a Boston regulation that chorus girls must wear hip-length stockings . . . The great Flo thought that choruses were more appealing and possibly more alluring when clothed about the legs . . . He and the late George M. Cohan were in agreement, by the way, on this one point if on nothing else . . . Ziegfeld gave interviews on the subject—and hip-length hose became the law!

NEW YORK HAS POKED fun for years at Boston's "censorious" attitude . . . Broadway producers have groaned at a blow directly at their pocketbooks when official Boston refused to relent on this regulation that chorus girls should wear full-length hose . . . Fittingly, perhaps, Ziegfeld was partly responsible for withdrawal of that regulation (although it remains on the books) . . . One of Ziegfeld's last business actions was to buy 1000 pairs of hip-length stockings from a Boston department store.

THIS STORE kept the hose in stock only because Boston-bound musical comedies and operettas always needed a supply of such stockings before opening here . . . New producers, particularly, with no "Boston stockings" in their storehouse, were sure customers for these stockings . . . But Ziggy bought out the stock of the store which specialized in them . . . Every pair . . . And it wasn't many years thereafter when manufacture of the hip-length variety of hose was discontinued . . . The regulation, by necessity, has gone into disuse.

Yes, the office of "city censor" has an interesting background . . . It has been for eight years in excellent hands—those of former newspaperman John J. Spencer . . . In Sam Nesson's custody, it should retain dignity and be very well served, too, we think.

They don't want you to lose weight too fast lest your nerves get frayed and ragged around the edges . . . and your disposition become as sharp as the proverbial tack. They don't want your chin line to sag like a pouch . . . nor your face to get so streamlined it looks like a comet. Being reed-like with the dimensions of a slim, young girl is every woman's wish . . . but being hale, hearty and healthy is more vital. To be both is Utopian.

Under normal circumstances, the food you eat supplies the energy . . . or calories . . . your body uses. When you eat more than the body needs for the expenditure of energy . . . the surplus is methodically tucked away as fat. And when eventually that stored up supply gets out of bounds and beyond the normal requirements of your constitution . . . your figure shows the uncomfortable result of the excessive storage. In other words . . . you're fat, sister.

When you eat less than is required for your daily activities . . . when you deny the body its extra pound of flesh remade from fat-producing foods . . . it is forced to draw upon the fat reserve for its additional energy needs and you lose weight. And . . . finally . . . when the stored up fat is completely dissipated and you continue to feed your body only the health-giving calories it needs for dispensing energy . . . you stay slim for keeps. But the low-calorie intake must not only represent a well-balanced diet . . . otherwise general health is impaired . . . it must not consist of the foods that make for poundage.

The accelerated pace of present-day living demands that women look their best and work their best. Even romance figures to be a big headache to many a girl, if government figures are to be taken at face value. Woman may be the weaker of the sexes . . . but she exceeds the male population by 8,000,000 . . . so says the government. And that's keen competition for the plain Jane to overcome.

A unique feature of our menu chart is the fact that calories are "inventoried" . . . so you weight watchers may know exactly where you stand . . . on the scales, of course.

Eating is a habit, a good one, too. Most of us eat to live . . . but too many live to eat. If you're in the latter class . . . you'll have to shift that mental attitude around to an "I will desist" frame of mind . . . or your shadowgraph will continue to be on the hippo side. Of course, if your obesity is due to glandular or organic causes . . . don't diet unless the dieting is done under the watchful scrutiny of a physician.

The girl in normal good health who wants to lose weight must avoid fats such as nuts, olives, olive oil, fat meats, cream, chocolate and cocoa, gravy, cream sauces and a steady diet of cream soups. She must also pass up concentrated sweets and starches such as ice cream, candy, pastries, sweet sauces, macaroni, soda foundation drinks, alcoholic beverages, sweet potatoes, refined cereals and highly spiced foods.

You are at liberty to vary the meat and fish of the prescribed menu . . . providing the meats are lean and the fish is not of the oily type . . . and the serving is a modest one. Beef, chicken, lamb, veal and lean ham are on the selected list. So if we dictate roast beef on the menu . . . but there's steak for the rest of the household . . . the swap is legitimate and authorized. But don't eat fried meats of any kind . . . or oily fish. Meats and fish are best served baked or broiled. If possible, however, arrange the menus as we give them . . . since the balance of food is important.

Today's menu represents a total of 1004 calories in foods that are varied, appetizing and satisfying. How do you feel?

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American, we'll tell you why food balance is important.

*BREATH TAKING, and on Maria Montez it looks fine. Of course, it's a John Frederick original . . . but stunning all the same for the gorgeous face that can do it justice. Even if you can't wear such a millinery inspiration . . . you can look and admire this unusually high-draped heavy white crepe turban . . . draped to give the braided effect . . . as it looks on one of Hollywood's most interesting hat models.—R. # Golden-Brown Muffins Popular at All Meals

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

ON SNAPPY JANUARY DAYS, the woman who can make golden-brown, pebbly-topped muffins will get frequent requests for repeats. And the ability to make these delicious hot breads is within reach of every homemaker. Following a few simple rules like measuring accurately, avoiding over-mixing, making sure the oven is the right temperature is all that is necessary to insure success.

BASIC MUFFIN RECIPE

To make a good basic muffin, sift together

2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. sugar

Beat 1 egg and add 1 cup milk and two tbsp. melted shortening. For best results, all ingredients should be at room temperature. Add liquid mixture to flour mixture and stir until flour is moistened. One secret of making good muffins is to have the batter still lumpy when it goes into the pan. Fill greased muffin pans ⅔ full and bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 20 minutes.

HONEY-NUT MUFFINS

Honey-nut muffins are a pleasing variation of the plain muffin recipe. To make them, omit sugar, reduce milk to ¾ cup, and add ½ cup honey to the liquid ingredients. Stir 1 cup chopped nuts with flour mixture before combining. Reduce baking temperature to 400 deg. F.

ICED FRUITED MUFFINS

Delicious iced fruited muffins can be made by increasing the sugar in the plain muffin recipe to 3 tbsp. and the shortening to ¼ cup. Add ½ cup raisins, currants or candied cherries to the flour mixture before combining with the liquid. If desired, ice the baked muffins with confectioners' sugar icing.

LEFTOVER MUFFINS

Leftover plain muffins or rolls may be glamorized with a cheese, egg, meat or vegetable sauce. The base sauce is made by mixing ¼ cup enriched flour with ½ cup milk to make a smooth paste. Then add 1¼ cups milk and ¼ cup butter or margarine, and cook in a double boiler until smooth and thickened.

For cheese sauce, add ¾ cup hard-cooked eggs, or more, depending upon the tastes of the family.

For meat sauce, add 1 cup chopped bologna or frankfurts to the egg sauce.

½ cup flaked tuna fish can be added to the egg sauce for a tasty variation. Canned pimentos would make a pleasing addition to any of these sauces. Chopped pimentos or diced green pepper does wonders for color appeal.

The amount of salt and pepper needed for seasoning depends on the flavoring used in the sauce. Egg sauce takes a generous amount of salt, while bologna sauce takes quite a bit less. A bit of judicious tasting is the best guide.

BRAN MUFFINS

2 tbsp. shortening
¼ cup sugar 1 cup bran
1 egg ¾ cup milk
1 cup sifted enriched flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add unbeaten egg and beat well. Stir in bran and milk. Let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Add sifted dry ingredients and stir only until flour disappears. Bake in greased muffin pans in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 8 large or 12 small muffins.

CORN MUFFINS

⅔ cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup sifted enriched flour
4 tsp. baking powder
⅔ tsp. salt 4 tbsp. sugar
1 egg, well beaten 1 cup milk
3 tbsp. shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine well-beaten egg and milk and add to dry ingredients. Stir in shortening. Bake in greased muffin pans in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 18 small or 12 medium muffins.

Girl Should Tell Her Parents

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have been keeping steady company with a young lady for three years. She is 21 and I am 24. Her parents and I have often talked of our being married sometime after the end of the war, but never about the engagement or when it was to be announced. Now I have told the girl that very soon I am going to give her the engagement ring, and I would like to know if it is necessary for me to tell her parents that I am going to give her the ring.

J. L. S.

Since up to now you have been forthright and honest about discussing with the girl's family your and their daughter's plans about marrying, why not continue with this forthrightness by thoughtfully taking them into your confidence about your plans concerning the ring and the engagement announcement?

This Soft, Velvety Cream Grand for Young Skins

IT'S NEVER TOO early to start beautifying your skin . . . And the young girl, too, with normal, lovely skin will not do wrong to begin her beauty care BEFORE there's any real need for it. We know a cream that's just wonderful for a general softening effect on the face and neck.

It is as delicate, as soft and as velvety as its name implies . . . and is especially designed for a normal, young, sensitive skin. Just smooth it on . . . with an upward movement after thoroughly cleansing and refreshing the skin . . . and let a thin film remain overnight to purr your complexion to kitten-softness.

Because it is a pure, snowy-white, lightly scented cream . . . it is especially beneficial to young, delicate complexions . . . white skins can't and shouldn't be harshly treated with too much and too many cosmetics. For future protection of the youthful cheek bloom today and assurance that your complexion will remain as lovely as spring in bloom . . . this white velvet-like cream is a satisfying dish.

For the name of this young or sensitive skin cream, phone Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOUR TELEPHONE SMILE

WHEN YOU speak face-to-face with someone, your facial expression and your smile play an important part in the conversation. Over the telephone you're entirely dependent on the tone of your voice to show the quality of your personality. "The voice with the smile" is the kind of voice that makes for Grade-A telephone charm.

Salvage Drive Will Continue

So urgent is the need for waste paper in mills working on civilian and military contracts that the Boston scrap paper drive will be conducted again this month, although originally it was planned to end the monthly campaigns with the close of 1945.

Trucks will make a house-to-house collection of all waste paper left on sidewalks, canvassing the city by wards during the week of Jan. 21.

Housewives were urged to save old newspapers, magazines, cartons and miscellaneous paper for the drive.

Aldrich to Run Cape Playhouse

Cape Playhouse, celebrated as America's most famous summer theater, is to re-open on July 1 under Richard Aldrich's management.

Shuttered since 1942, the playhouse at Dennis where Bette Davis, Henry Fonda, Robert Montgomery, Anne Baxter, Gregory Peck and other stars received their first stage experience, has been leased to the Broadway theatrical producer.

Aldrich, who has completed four years of active duty with the Navy and has recently been promoted to commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve, was producing manager for New England's nationally famed summer theater from 1935 through the summer of '41.

Some of the theater's greatest "names" headed Cape Playhouse casts in the 16 seasons of its existence, notably Ethel Barrymore, Gertrude Lawrence, Ina Claire, Jane Cowl, Eva Le Gallienne, Maude Adams, Ruth Gordon, C. Aubrey Smith, Edward Everett Horton and many others.

Aldrich and his wife, who would be the glamorous stage star, Gertrude Lawrence, maintain a home and cranberry bog on Sesuit Neck in East Dennis. He is a native New Englander.

'Journey Together' Opens at Old South

Edward G. Robinson's latest starring picture, "Journey Together," is to have the New England premiere today at the Old South and Tremont Theaters.

"Journey Together" is a thrilling story of the dashing, daring Royal Air Force by Terrence Rattigan, who authored "Johnny in the Clouds" and "Oh, Mistress Mine!" the new Lunt and Fontaine vehicle opening on Broadway later this month.

Appeal for Recruits in The Battle of Peace

By AUSTEN LAKE

THIS IS THE WAY IT WORKS—many thousand times a day throughout New England!

A bony kid, wearing freshly-minted discharge button, walks into an employment office of some firm, factory or plant and asks for a job. The personnel manager demands, "What can you do?" and the kid says vaguely, "I don't know. Just anything. I went to war out of school."

Austen Lake

The P. M. is eager to help. So he says "Okay! We'll apprentice you in our machine shop at $25 a week while you learn. But it may take a year or more before you get the full base pay-scale."

The veteran looks dismayed! "I got a wife and baby," he mumbles. "We can't live on that." The P. M. shakes his head regretfully. He'd like to give the kid a better break, but can't. So the veteran goes away and tries again and still again, growing gradually sour while his domestic tranquility totters. Is it his fault that a global disaster reached out its arm and grabbed two or three years from his life when he was on the threshold of opportunity? What to do?

There is something and employers can do it! This is it!

The U. S. Employment Service, at 9 Beacon st., will help all employers to share the upkeep and cost of training any veteran without trade or professional skill. It will add $90 a month to his training wage if the veteran has dependents and $75 if he is single. Thus in a case like the one above USES would augment the $25 weekly wage to give the vet a total of $190 a month—enough to squeeze by until he increases his skill and gradually becomes productive and self-dependent.

Wanted: 20,000 Opportunities

BUT—AND HERES THE RUB! The USES needs 20,000 training jobs from employers willing to create job-openings and give unskilled veterans a chance to salvage the time lost during their service to the country. Only 1200 such openings have been offered in Greater Boston thus far, a woefully small proportion of the need.

So this is an appeal for employers who have, or are willing to make, job-opportunities under the co-operative pay-plan! If, as an employer, you want to give an untrained vet an inexpensive chance to learn a trade or profession in any category from shoemaking to law, from bookbinding to tinsmithery, telephone John Lamb of USES at Laf. 4525. Tell him the starting scale you are able to pay and he'll do the rest. Its up to each community to take care of its own!

For each neighborhood is the basic unit of all mankind. We individual Americans can no more be "isolationists" from the rest of our home-town neighbors than we, as a nation, can remain aloof from the neighborhood families of the globe.

If we learn this lesson the war will not have been fought in vain. If we don't then the mutilated version of what we term "democracy" will have been fought in vain—for it won't be democratic liberty but democratic license. The two principles are as far apart as Spitzbergen from Little America.

There are few employers in Massachusetts today who cannot, by taking thought and effort, create job openings under the USES earn-as-he-learns program for veterans. The employer takes small risk and gets his money's worth. The veteran gets a chance to establish himself! The nation solves a part of its unemployment problem! Nobody gets hurt and everybody is happy!

But where employers imagine they cannot afford to take on one or more of these trainees, let me remind them what would be happening now at this exact moment, if these same veterans had not sacrificed their time, blood and bones. Suppose we, instead of being victors by their effort, were the vanquished.

The Price Is Small

INSTEAD OF OCCUPYING GERMANY and Japan WE would be occupied by evil hordes of Nazi SS troops and slant-eyed brown runts. There wouldn't be any independent business in America! Our wealth would be systematically looted! Our factories, both great and small, would be stripped of machinery! Our food stocks would be shipped abroad! Our property would be dispossessed and our labor unions dissolved! What production was permitted would be subsidized by foreign body-masters. What employment existed would be slave labor. For that was the familiar pattern followed in every Nazi and Jap conquered nation. Do I hear any shouts of "baloney"?

Thus the price of freedom is in doing voluntarily a small part of what the Axis whip-masters obliged their national slaves to do without consent. For there is a human law of compensation in all matters. It is one of life's quid pro quos that there is a bill for everything—not merely for rent, clothing or food but for freedom, security and opportunity.

Today we of America are teetering in the balance of two ways. One is toward the slough of selfish interest, moral failure and social duress. The other is toward the heights of spiritual unity and the green plateaus of mutual sacrifice and human tolerance. Is that too high-falutin language for hard-headed understanding?

Massachusetts sent more than 600,000 men, boys and girls into service, of whom approximately 200,000 are mustered out. The USES says it has been able to locate less than one-third of its job applicants. The number of idle servicemen in spiraling toward 100,000. Already 35,000 are receiving "adjusted compensation" (unemployment insurance). Something must be done—and quick.

Who will do it?

No one else but each community! Let trade unions which place rigid membership restrictions on veterans know that if these men had not fought a winning fight there would NOT be any unions today. Let managements which demur at creating extra job opportunities realize that, if vanquished, they would cease to be employers of free enterprise. Let taxpayers who groan under increased levies understand that, in defeat, the tax would have been ALL!

Basketball Hits High At Garden Tomorrow

By HERB FINNEGAN

Basketball will reach a new high tomorrow night at the Boston Garden where a classy twin bill is offered. In one half of the program, undefeated Holy Cross faces Bowling Green State University, one of the nation's top flight teams; with Boston College meeting Villanova in the other half.

Don Otten, 6-11½-inch Falcon captain and center, who is one of country's leading scorers to date and holder last winter of the Garden individual scoring record, may prove the margin of difference between the invaders and Crusaders. Charlie Bollinger, 6-6 Purple freshman, who saw Otten cavort at Madison Square Garden two weeks ago before 18,411, the season's largest throng, will be called upon to halt Otten and preserve the Worcester team's unblemished record. A Holy Cross triumph tomorrow should focus national attention upon New England basketball. Holy Cross will have to watch Leo Kubiak.

Leo Kubiak

A Boston College win tomorrow would set a fine setting for next week's BC-Holy Cross contest, and Coach Al McClellan has brought his neophytes along with this thought in mind.

However, the Eagles, in meeting Villanova, will be facing a postwar team which is much stronger than its win-and-loss record tends to indicate. The Wildcats lost to Rhode Island State 84-67 over the recent week end and Frank W. Keaney, the pudgy Ram mentor, declared before the Hub sports writers last Monday that the Philadelphians should not be taken lightly by BC supporters.

Vallanova is possessed of excellent set shot artists and BC players will have to make Captain Joe Lord, ex-Army bombadier, Joe Hannan, Ed Reybitz and Bob McDonnell hustle their shots if they expect to win. McClellan and Doggie Julian, the sorrowful Holy Cross mentor, are standing pat on their line-ups in their efforts to eke out a triumph.

Bowling Green State University enhanced its national prestige on the eve of its departure for tomorrow's game with undefeated Holy Cross at the Boston Garden, by tripping Western Michigan Monday night 56-37. Don Otten, six-foot-11½-inch Falcon center, who undoubtedly may provide the margin of victory between the Ohioans and Holy Cross, added 15 points to boost his scoring mark to 199 points.

The visitors, defeated only twice in 16 games—by DePaul 59-54 and by Great Lakes 52-50—are expected to arrive at South Station late this morning, whereupon they will work at the Charlestown Boys' Club this afternoon and upon the Garden floor tomorrow morning. The team will attend the Ice-Capades tonight.

Holy Cross will have to be at its best to triumph tomorrow, since, in addition to Otten's 199, the visitors show the following scoring punch: Tom Inman 147, Leo Kubiak 110, Gene Dudley 84, Jim Knierim 80, Karl Schwab 60 and Vernon Dunham 44.

Villanova prepped for tomorrow's encounter with Boston College by meeting Bucknell tonight, and arrives here early tomorrow morning. Latest records show that Captain Joe Lord, of the Wildcats, is the second best scorer in the Philadelphia area with 85 points, with Ed Reybitz, 6-4 center, sixth with 61 points; and Joe Hannan, classy forward, eighth with 56 points.

Vet Marksman Hangs Up Rifle

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 9 (AP)—Adolph P. Toepperwein, unchallenged holder of the greatest shooting record ever made at aerial targets, retired today after 56 years of professional exhibition shooting. His greatest feat was performed here in 1906.

In 12 days he missed only nine of 72,000 targets. Toepperwein toured the country with his equally famous wife, who died two years ago, and one of his most popular feats was to draw pictures with bullets, using approximately 300 bullets for a picture.

Harris Says He Will Stop Hayes

Jackie Harris, Malden, said today that Buddy Hayes, South End, was stalling for time when he had their N. E. featherweight championship fight over the 12-round route postponed for one week until next Monday night at Mechanics Building.

"Hayes could have gone through with the bout last Monday," said Harris. "He might have had a touch of flu but I doubt it. It was a trick to throw me off stride."

The fight will involve the N. E. 126-pound crown, as agreed by the boxing chiefs of the six states. N. E. contains both world featherweight champs—Bartolo of East Boston and Pep of Hartford. Neither has shown any interest in the sectional crown, with bigger prizes under their wings.

Democrat Is to Receive Racing Board Position

By JACK CONWAY

THINGS I THOUGHT you would like to know . . . Attorney Owen Gallagher and Arthur Reilly, former fire commissioner, are being mentioned as possible successors to Bayard Tuckerman on the Massachusetts Racing Commission . . . There are several up-State candidates who feel the western part of the State should have representation on the Commission.

Tuckerman's term of office expires the latter part of the month . . . The Racing Commission is a bipartisan board which makes it likely Gov. Tobin will appoint a Democrat to succeed Tuckerman . . . This would give Democratic control of the Commission with Louis Hoffman chairman, being the other Democrat . . . Harry Allen is a Republican and was appointed by Senator Saltonstall when he was Governor.

Tuckerman

Hoffman has already gone on record that the Commission will approve of the two meetings at Suffolk Downs this year . . . The first meeting will be a 36-day affair from May 27 through July 6, while the second meeting will be for 23 days and last from Oct. 1 through Oct. 26 . . . This decision puts to end to rumors that Suffolk Downs would be forced to accept less racing days this year than in 1945 when it had 54 days . . . The closed racing period to mile tracks from Aug. 16 through Sept. 30 made it necessary for Suffolk to agree to accept 59 instead of 60 days of racing.

Narragansett Park's dates will not vary a great deal from former years . . . Narragansett will open on April 22 and run through May 25 for 30 days, and resume on Aug. 26 and continue through Sept. 28 for 30 days . . . Lou Smith's Rockingham Park got the first break it has received in racing dates in years when it secured 42 days for its summer meeting, opening on July 8 and going through Aug. 24 . . . In recent years Rockingham has only had an 18-day summer meeting, and was obliged to stage a seven weeks' fall meeting . . . This year Rockingham's fall meeting will last only 18 days, Oct. 28 through Nov. 16.

Tracks Show Unity

AT A MEETING of Allan Wilson, Suffolk Downs; Lou Smith, Rockingham Park, and Billy Ames, representing Judge James E. Dooley of Narragansett Park, it was agreed that the three New England tracks would present a solid front in racing . . . They will make agreements on all matters of common interest . . . It is planned to present the purse picture of the three tracks in a national campaign in an effort to attract the better horses to New England.

Next year the dates will be rotated so that either Suffolk Downs or Rockingham will open the New England racing season.

While the major tracks were settling the matter of dates, President Eddie Carroll of the Massachusetts Fair circuit called a meeting of the group for today . . . The gathering was to be held in Boston, and a program for 1946 was to be mapped out . . . Marshfield, Brockton, Northampton and Great Barrington are already in the Massachusetts Fair Circuit . . . It is likely that Topsfield, which intends to stage a running horse meeting at its Fair this year, will also join the association . . . In 1945, the Massachusetts Fair Circuit offered $90,000 in purses.

Random Shots at Target

TOM SHEHAN of Danvers has received his discharge from the Army, and has been signed by Lou Smith to be a steward at Rockingham Park . . . Tom was in the steward's stand at Rockingham when he joined the Army . . . Shehan saw service in all parts of the world as a member of the staff of the Army newspaper "Yank."

Ben Levias says the number of entries already received for the Silver Skates Derby, which is set for the Garden on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 27, will establish a new high . . . In addition to the speed skating, there will be figure skating exhibitions by professional and amateur stars . . .

Mission Team Awaits Somerville Trouble

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Mission High School's basketball team, beaten previously this season (St. John's of Danvers) on the Garden Court, will be stepping into another troublesome time on the big league floor tomorrow afternoon, voluntarily meeting Somerville's Eastern State champions.

This will be the wind-up to the triple-header that finds Commerce meeting Roxbury Memorial and Arlington tackling Rindge Tech in earlier tussles.

The little Roxbury outfit, coached by Fred Daly, filled in this date where others had faltered. Director Bill Mokray of the Garden staff had run into refusals everywhere when he offered the classy Somerville team as an open date. Coach Daly's dribblers never hesitated when the opportunity for a second crack at the Garden floor popped up.

Mission, a slow starter with two straight setbacks, has the potential power to raise havoc with the green Somerville club. The Roxbury team has a nifty scorer in Bill O'Brien; height in center and co-captain Bill O'Rourke, 6.2, and Jim Callanan; experience in Jim Power, an all-Catholic League guard last season, and speed throughout with sophomore George Brawley completing the starting team.

Coach Vin Cronin had only Capt. Al Perry returning from last year's championship club but apparently, the Somervilles have come along nicely as a new threat to a Tech Tourney berth. Jack Quinlan, 5.9 inch senior and John Voitolini have taken over the forwards; Bill Hickey, 6 foot, will be at center with Jim Karangioze balancing Perry at the guards.

The Commerce-Memorial game will be a regularly scheduled conference tilt. Commerce, under Coach Eugene Plociennik, has a capable offensive centered by Capt. Charlie McClusky with Norton Miller and Ken West at forwards. Memorial's John Keane will counter with a team of lettermen of center Ralph Butler, 6.1; forwards Dave Wise and Hal Frank; guards John MacDonald and Beryl Barenholtz.

Miss Paula Kahn Has Real Ski Ambition

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

NORTH CONWAY, N. H., Jan. 9—One of the East's top ski racers, a comely brunette named Paula Kahn, lives in this town, and she is the pride and joy of the Eastern Slope Ski Club, whose colors she wears when weaving intricate patterns in the powder, flying through the flags.

This lithe lass has already retired one Gibson Trophy cup with three successive victories on Cranmore Mountain, and holds another leg on the present cup, thanks to last season's triumph. Her record includes a smashing first in the American-Canadian team race at Ste. Marguerite, Canada; a win over a crack field in the Teton Spring Derby, Jackson, Wyoming; plus prizes in the Kate Smith Trophy Race, Pico Peak, Vt., and the Alta Ski Races, Alta, Utah.

This winter, in mid-December, after very little practice, she placed fifteenth in the Giant Slalom on Cannon Mountain, Franconia, N. H., competing against 61 of New England's speediest runners. Only seven girls were in this event, and they showed the way to many collegians!

Chatting with Paula at the Ski-mobile Base Station, she declared: "My greatest ambition at present is to win a Gold Cannon in the time trials held at Cannon Mountain. No girl has ever won one yet—and I think I can do it!"

Her eyes sparkled, as she added: "I am going to Canada for a whole week, Jan. 13, to represent the Ski Club in the International races. That will be real fun!" . . . Between schusses, Miss Kahn works for her dad in his photographic shop here, developing her skiing technique and negatives at the same time!

SKI SCRIBBLINGS: One of the most inviting ski lodges we've seen is now under construction on Waterhouse Hill, at Intervale, N. H. . . . It's the first modern place to be erected in this section for over 20 years and is expected to be open in March, known as Playmore Lodge, with every type of accommodation for about 125.

Young, Zacone In Arena Bout

Garvey Young, conqueror of Freddie Cochrane is back in Boston with fight in his eyes. The former Marine tangles with Patsy Zacone of New York in the feature bout of the Sharkey A. A. Friday night at the Boston Arena. Young is making his first start in the Hub, having been absent from the local ring since 1940.

The former Leatherneck is hot on the trail of Johnny Cesario and Bobby Zollo, both of whom he claims he can defeat in the same night. That's to be proven, for in Zacone he meets one of the toughest boxers from Gotham.

Patsy is a club fighter with a terrific punch and if Young gets by his Friday night opponent Matchmaker George Freeman promises him plenty of ring activity this winter

Tom Wynn, Harold Harmon, Paul Rich and Fuzzy Feldman. Buster's mother sits beside him. AP Wirephoto
